Survation on behalf of the Association for Public Service Excellence

Introduction & Background

Survation were commissioned by the Association for Public Service Excellence (APSE) to provide a public opinion survey of attitudes to local services in 2017, covering the range of council services that would appear in their local area. The survey is, in part, a repeat of the same survey conducted in 2016.

- Respondents were asked to consider their 'local area' meaning and area within 15-20 minutes walking distance from their home.
- Polling was conducted via online panel between 15th - 20th September 2017.
- Data were weighted by age, sex, region, household income, education, 2017 GE vote and 2016 EU Referendum vote to be representative of all UK adults aged 18+.
- The overall sample size was 1,634, including booster samples in Northern Ireland & Wales to ensure sub-samples of at least 100 persons in those regions.

Key Findings

Trust in councils and councillors high versus government ministers and private companies

- Five times as many trust their local council (50%) over the government (10%) to make decisions about how services are delivered provided in their local area.
- Eight times as many trust local councillors (51%) over government ministers (6%) to make decision about their local area.
- Five times as many trusted their local council (53%) to provide services in their local area over a private company (10%).

Strong desire for more government money for local councils

- Just under three-quarters of people (72%) would like the government to give more money to local councils to spend at the local level.
- Around 13% thought that spending should remain the same with only 6% wanting less money to be spent at a local level.

Large variance in satisfaction rating by service area – high for parks and street lighting, lower for road maintenance and affordable housing.

- Respondents selected gave each local council service a score on a scale of 0-10 (where 0 = very dissatisfied and 10 = very satisfied). The 'Satisfaction Rating' is the average of the weighted results.
- Park services is the area that the public gave the highest satisfaction rating score (7.2) with affordable housing rated the lowest (5.0).

Public rate road maintenance the highest priority for new government spending

- Asked to allocate a notional budget increase across 11 services, the public allocated 40% of their budget to just three areas; social care (14%), road maintenance (13%) and affordable housing (13%).

Public see decline in local services in recent years

- A significant proportion of the public (46%) perceive a decline in local services in their local area.
- Those that saw a decline were most likely to see this decline as the fault of both the government and local Councils combined (40%), although more than a third (35%) see this as being caused by government cuts alone.

Trust in councils and councillors high versus government ministers and private companies

Who do you trust the most to make decisions about how services are delivered and about how services are provided in your local area?

- Respondents were first asked who they trusted the most to make decisions about how services are delivered and provided in their local area.
- Half (50%) said that they trust their local council the most, compared to only one in ten (10%) who trusted the government the most.
- The remainder either said 'Neither' (34%) or 'Don't know' (6%).

Who do you trust the most to make decisions about how services are provided in your local area?

- Next, respondents were asked a similar question but with different answer options relating specifically to representatives.
- Again, half (51%) said that they trusted their local representatives, in this case being local councillors, the most, compared to 6% who said that they trusted both government ministers and MPs the most.

- The remainder either said 'None of them' (30%) or 'Don't know' (6%).

Who do you trust most to deliver services to your local area?

- Finally, respondents were asked who they trust the most to deliver services to their local area.
- Just over half of people (53%) trust their local council most to deliver services to the area, compared to 10% who trust a private company the most and 7% who trust the government the most.
- The remainder either said 'Neither' (23%) or 'Don't know' (7%).

Strong desire for more government money for local councils

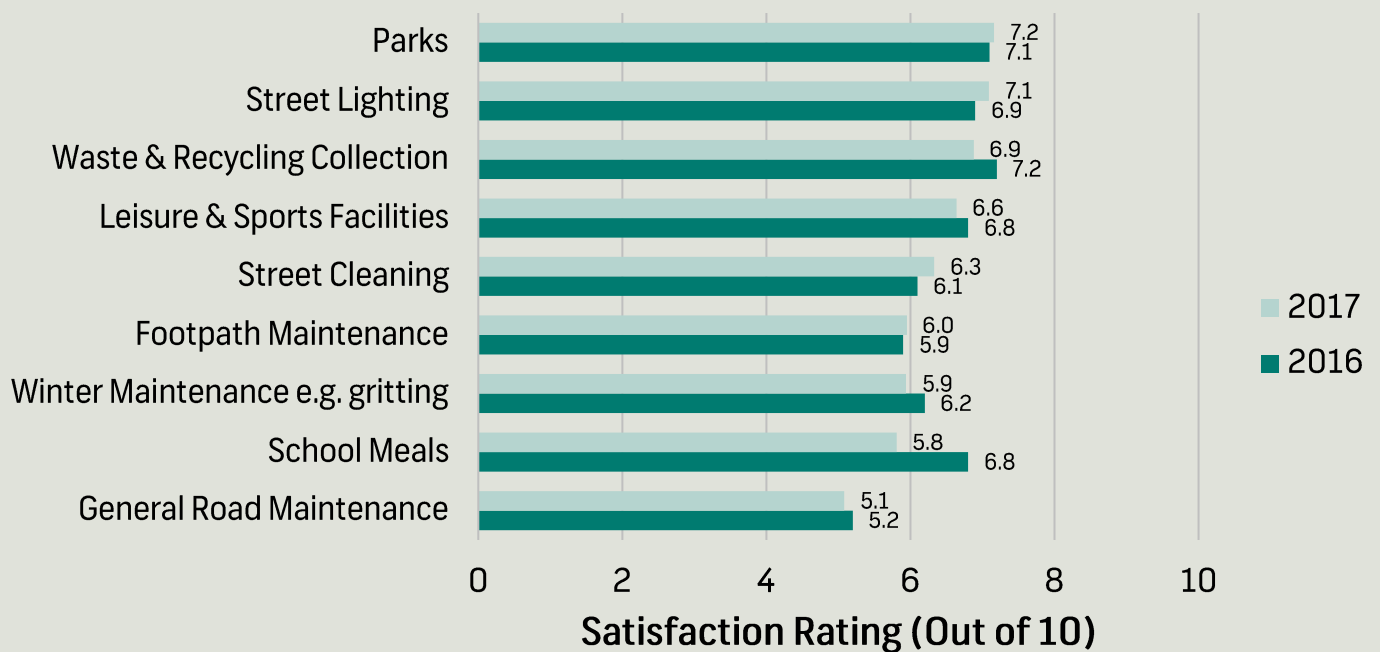

Would you like to see the government keep more money than it currently gives to local councils to spend at national level or should it give more money to local councils to spend at the local level?

- Respondents were asked to place themselves on a scale of 0-10 scale, where 0 meant that they would like to see the government keep more money than it currently gives to local councils in order to spend more at the national level and 10 meant that they would like to see the government give more money to local councils to spend at the local level.
- More than three-quarters of the public (79%) chose a number between 6-10 on the scale, indicating that they would like the government to give more money to local councils to spend at the local level.
- Further, more than a two-in-five (43%) chose a number between 8-10 and one in ten (13%) chose 10.
- Around 15% thought that spending should remain the same, choosing 5, while only 6% chose a number between 0-4, indicating they wanted less money to be spent at a local level.

Large variance in satisfaction rating by service area

Satisfaction With Services

- Respondents were asked to give each of the nine local council services listed a score on a scale of 0-10 (where 0 = very dissatisfied and 10 = very satisfied). The 'Satisfaction Rating' is the average of the weighted results.
- Parks services is the area that the public gave the highest satisfaction rating score (7.2), just ahead of Street Lighting (7.1) and Waste & Recycling (6.9).
- However, General Road Maintenance services was given the lowest satisfaction rating by the public (5.1), while School meals (5.8), Winter Maintenance (5.9) and Footpath Maintenance (6.0) also rated poorly.

Public rate road maintenance the highest priority for new government spending

What percentage of the extra money would be spent on each of the 11 services below?

- Imagining that local councils were to receive extra funding, respondents were asked to allocate portions of a notional budget to the nine local services already discussed.
- Respondents wanted to allocate the highest mean proportion of the budget to the service they earlier rated the poorest, General Road Maintenance (13%), as well as two service areas which were not featured last year (social care, 14%; and affordable housing, 13%).
- Budget allocation was fairly spread among the other services, with the public wanting to allocate an average of 9% of the budget to Waste & Recycling Collection (the next highest) and 7% to School Meals (the lowest).

Public see decline in local services in recent years

Do you think that local services have declined or improved in your local area in recent years?

- When asked whether they thought local services have declined or improved in recent years, a significant proportion of the public (46%) perceived a decline in local services in their local area, compared to just 13% who said that services had improved.
- A further 37% of the public thought that services had stayed about the same.

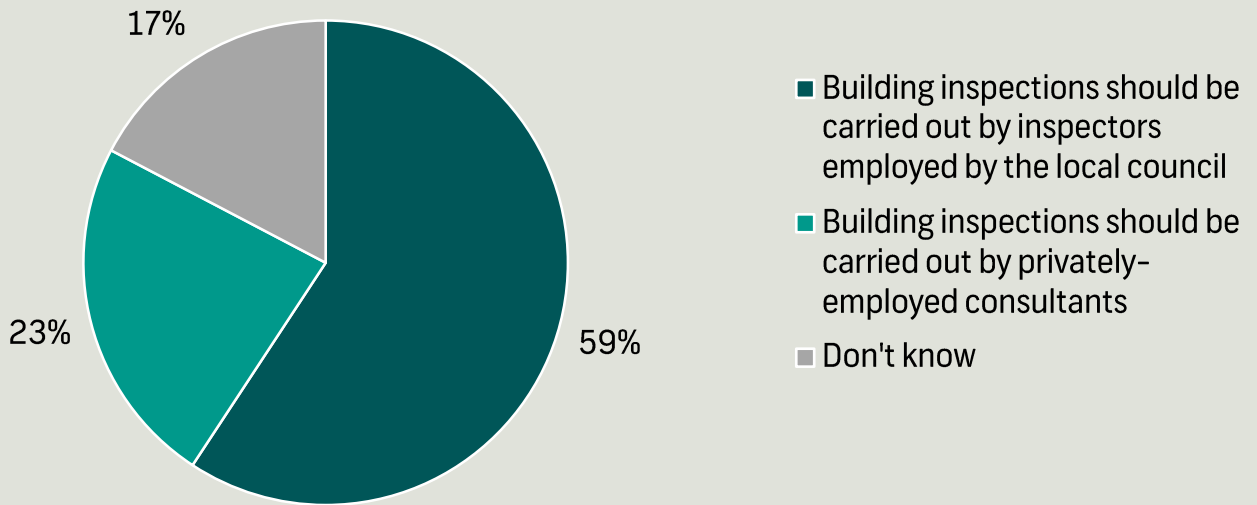

Who do you think is the most responsible for the declining services in your local area?

- Those that said that they had seen a decline were most likely to see this decline as the fault of both the government and local Councils combined (40%), although over a third (35%) see this as being caused by government cuts alone – an increase of 8% since the survey was conducted in 2016.

Building Inspections

Which of the following is closest to your view?

- When given the preamble, “Building inspectors employed by a local council used to perform all building inspections to check they complied with the approved plans and health and safety standards. Now, privately-employed consultants engaged by the developer mostly conduct these inspections”, respondents were asked which of the statements was closest to their view.
- More than half (59%) said that building inspections should be carried out by employees of the local council, compared to under a quarter (23%) who said that inspections should be carried out by privately employed contractors. The remainder (17%) didn’t know.

Support for Council Scrutiny of Private Landlords

To what extent do you support or oppose the following proposal?

"When housing services are delivered by a registered social landlord or by private landlords the local Council should have the power to call them to account and publicly scrutinise them when residents raise concerns"

- More than four in five (82%) people would support local councils having the power to call to account and scrutinise registered social landlords and private landlords when residents raise concerns. This is compared to just 2% who opposed the idea. 87% of Conservative voters would support the idea.

To what extent do you support or oppose the following proposal?

"When provision of housing by registered social landlords or private contractors are found to be clearly failing by the local community, the local council should have the power to intervene."

- More than four in five (83%) people would support local councils having the power to intervene if registered social landlords and private landlords are found to be clearly failing by the local community. This is compared to just 1% who opposed the idea. 88% of Conservative voters would support the idea.

Methodology

Fieldwork Dates

15th - 20th September 2017

Data Collection Method

The survey was conducted via online panel. Invitations to complete surveys were sent out to members of the panel. Differential response rates from different demographic groups were taken into account.

Population Sampled

All residents aged 18+ in the UK. The sample was boosted in the North-East, Northern Ireland and Wales to ensure at least 100 respondents in each region.

Sample Size

Data Weighting

Data were weighted to the profile of all adults aged 18+ in the United Kingdom. Data were weighted by age, sex, region, household income, education, 2017 General Election vote and EU referendum. Targets for the weighted data were derived from Office for National Statistics 2011 Census data and the results of the 2015 General Election and 2016 EU Referendum.

Margin of Error

Because only a sample of the full population was interviewed, all results are subject to margin of error, meaning that not all differences are statistically significant. For example, in a question where 50% (the worst case scenario as far as margin of error is concerned) gave a particular answer, with a sample of 1,634 it is 95% certain that the 'true' value will fall within the range of 2.4% from the sample result. Subsamples from the cross-breaks will be subject to higher margin of error, conclusions drawn from crossbreaks with very small sub-samples should be treated with caution.

Question presentation

All data tables shown in full below, in order and wording put to respondents, including but not limited to all tables relating to published data and all relevant tables preceding them. Tables for demographic questions might not be included but these should be clear from the cross-breaks on published tables. In all questions where the responses are a list of parties, names or statements, these will typically have been displayed to respondents in a randomising order. The only questions which would not have had randomising responses would be those in which there was a natural order to maintain – e.g. a scale from “strongly agree” to “strongly disagree”, a list of numbers from 0 to 10 or questions which had factual rather than opinion-related answers such as demographic information. “Other”, “Don't know” and “Refused” responses are not randomised.

Not all questions will have necessarily been asked to all respondents – this is because they may be follow-on questions from previous questions or only appropriate to certain demographic groups. Lower response counts should make clear where this has occurred.

Data were analysed and weighted by Survation.
