Street Living - The story so far....

The Hidden Issues

- Increasing numbers of people on the streets are involved in a street lifestyle who are vulnerable – begging, addiction, poverty, exploitation.
- Environmental issues; accumulation of bedding, cardboard, items in shop doorways and other sites, disguising used needles, drug using equipment – risk to staff and public.
- Incidences of anti-social behaviour such as aggression, people openly injecting drugs, defecating and urinating openly in the city centre.
- Impact for the public, businesses, and tourism, and generates significant media attention and complaints / comments from the public, which can in turn increase their vulnerability.

Our records were telling us...

We needed to do something!

What we decided to do

The objective of the project was to reduce begging and anti-social behaviour in the city, whilst supporting individuals to help themselves.

We planned to do this through:

- Supporting people to access accommodation
- Providing specialist support to tackle addictions
- Enforcing the law when support and services have been offered and refused
- Improving health and well being of service users
- Cleaning up our city
- To deliver efficiencies and offer best value for the Council

Enter – Lorna & The High Impact Teams (HIT)

A team that has;

- The right people
- The right tools
- The right powers

And more importantly

The support of all partners!

Key Issues & Challenges

The teams faced a number of key challenges daily;

- From the types of materials they collect
- The items and mess that they have to clean up
- The logistics of monitoring and recording sites
- To the challenge of building relationships with individuals and groups so that they become trusted
- Most importantly signing posting to key support services

What has the project achieved?

Rough Sleeping Outcomes

Where next?

Going forward Lorna & the team are;

- Planning to turn the spaces used by tents and rough sleepers into positive spaces for the city
- Expanding the project outside of the city centre boundaries
- Engaging John Moores university students to work alongside us to do some positive art, greening and lighting of the areas
- Continuing to map the sites, engage the people and signpost individuals for support.
